PANIC FOLLOWED.

The Opening of the Sportsmen's Annual Show was Marked by a Queer Accident.

Pittsburg, April 25.-Five minutes after the first annual sportsmen's show opened in this city last night at the Duquesne garden a huge tank which was to be used for the water sports suddenly burst and 100,000 galions of water rushed out over the large hall.

There were several hundred visitors present and these, panic-stricken, succeeded in reaching the promenade of the garden, which is about ten feet higher than the floor space being used for the show, before any one was

According to the management of the gardens had the accident occurred half an hour later, when the spectators would have probably numbered thousands, the result would have been

That those present were not injured is considered miraculous. In their rush for places of safety many were knocked down and trampled, Leading to the promenade are a dozen or more steps and it was here that the panic assumed serious proportions.

That no fatalities occurred is also attributed to the fact that the garden, which covers a floor space of 23,400 feet, is used for ice skating and possesses numerous water outlets. These were opened immediately and in a few moments all the water had disappeared. The tank was 70 feet long, 40 feet wide and six feet high. It was completed Tuesday night and all sorts of water sports were to have taken place in it during the next ten days. The tank was tested and thought to be in excellent shape.

Mental Geography the Best Soporific According to a Drug Clerk.

haggard-looking man strolled a drug store the other day asked the druggist for help said he had trouble in getting to sleep when he retired. No matter how sleepy he might be during the day or how much sleep he might have lost, the moment his head touch ed the pillow he was wide awake and lay thus for several hours. Once asleep, he was hard to waken, but he had to be up at a certain hour, and in consequence of his peculiar at-fliction he was losing more sleep than he could stand. The drug clerk re garded him quizzically a few moments and then replied: "My dear man, you don't need medicine. What you want is something to change the trend of your thoughts. Do as a friend of mine did. He was troubled the same way and found that the old folks' plan of imagining sheep passing a barrier and counting them was out of date. So he began trying to name all the states in the union. He soon got them so he could classify them alphabetically. Then when they no longer interested him he started on the countles of this state. He now has them at his tongue's end, classified up to the fourth letter. Now he is starting on state capitals and their locations: then he will take up county seats. A moment's glance at an atlas during the day shows him when he is wrong, and the beauty of the plan is that he rarely has to think along these lines longer than ten minutes before he is sound asleep. To make it short, the study of geography is a good parcotic."
